

So the country is in a period of the worst national debt ever experienced... or that's what the government says. They say they have no choice but to cut your pay and pension. But they are only showing you the selected part of the graph.

Take a look at the whole graph and see if you agree

Do you still think you should give up your pay rises, work longer, pay more for your pension and get less?